

September, 2007

Archives Receives AAO Institutional Award

At the 2007 ACA-AAO Conference at Queen's University, Kingston, Ontario, the Elgin County Archives was presented with the 2007 Archives Association of Ontario Institutional Award for "overall achievements and especially for the preservation of Tweedsmuir Histories as part of Ontario's valuable documentary memory."

The award is largely attributable to the strong support and leadership that Elgin County Council has shown towards the Archives since the program's inception in 2002. To acknowledge this achievement, the AAO presented the award directly to Elgin County Council at a meeting in September, 2007.

AAO representative Mary Gladwin presents the 2007 AAO Institutional Award to Elgin County Warden Lynn Acre.