The house is well over one hundred years old. My grandfather - Peter McCallum lived in this house. My father, Philip McCallum was born here Dec. 1887 and myself in May 1937. I cannot remember the many changes that were done throughout the house in 1940, only the fact that I was lost back in the field with the horses at the age of three when my uncle Allen Marsh and my dad were busy with the remodelling of the house. Everyone working on the house had to leave their work and go searching for me when my mother discovered that I wasn't around. My cat needed a mouse to eat and that was my reason for being back near the woods. Many changes were made inside - the house was raised and a full basement was put in. I remember the dirt being cleaned out from under the house with a large scoop. A stairway in the front north corner was removed and one was built more in the centre of the house and 3 bedrooms were formed upstairs and one room which was used as a washroom for guests. A room on the west side was glassed in as a sunroom with a deep older basement under it. By 1969 we felt warmth was needed so windows and a door were removed and two larger windows were put in and insulation and a bathroom added to the south end.
