

Southwold Veterans' War Memorial

The Southwold Key-stone Complex was following as approximately 400 people gathered for the War Memorial Dedication held on Sunday, November 12th. Following a short service inside led by Committee Chairperson Stan Lidster, everyone moved out to the memorial site.

Parade Marshall CWO Paul Donaldson

CD was in charge of the march to the memorial. The parade, led by Piper James Carmichael, included the Colour Party, Honour Guard, veterans, dignitaries, Navy Cadets, 7th Army Cadet Corps and 741 Air Cadet Squadron. Legions represented included Aylmer, Port Burwell, Port Stanley, Rodney, St. Thomas, West Lorne and the Native Veterans Association.

Master of Ceremonies was Lolly Marshall of the Elgin Regiment. A dedication prayer was given by Padre D. Roushorn. Al McGregor read the list of 66 lost veterans from the three wars. A moment of silence was observed at this time.

Gentil Vandena-beele provided the Last Post and Reveille on his trumpet and Mr. Carmichael played the Lament on the bagpipes. Flags were presented by Lorne Spicer (Airforce), George Goodhue (Army) and Sharon McCormick (Navy).

Four Harvard aircraft flew over forming the Lost Airman Salute.

The memorial, consists of 2 large stones, a sun-dial and a scale model of a Lysander airplane. One stone came from the farm of Albert Auckland, near Talbotville, and the other from the Jenner family of Boxall. Sixty-six wooden crosses with a poppy on each one, were placed in 2 rows in front of the memorial, representing the lives lost.

Twelve wreaths were laid by M.P. Gar Knutson, Silver Cross, Dora McArthur; M.P.P. Steve Peters, Warden of Elgin Dunc McPhail, Mayor of Southwold, Perry Clutterbuck; Mayor of St. Thomas, Marie Turvey (designate); Committee, Noble Tufford and Stan Jones; 31 CER (The Elgins), CWO Paul Donaldson CD; Korean Veteran, Hank Bowlby; No 4 Bombing & Gunnery School Association, Garth Henderson; OPP and various Legions.

History

Part of the agenda leading up to this special day as prepared by Len Lynch follows:

In September 1998, a small group of volunteers formed a committee to landscape the facility. Len Lynch (continued on page 12)

was the chairperson. The idea for a Veterans' War Memorial evolved as a key component of the project.

In October 1999, a separate committee was formed to research the names of all Southwold Township residents who had enlisted for active service in WWI, WWII and Korean War. Countless hours were spent by the committee compiling data.

The Memorial Site is a simple, dignified place of solitude. A place where members of the community and visitors can reflect on the heritage of the township.

It is a circle, symbolic of those who "joined together" in the common cause of defending democracy and freedom.

Two great stones, one for each World War, represent "the roots of Southwold Township and the firm resolve" of these young people who left their homes, families and community to face the uncertainty of impending conflict.

The sundial represents "remembering for all time" those from the community, who served and gave their lives for their country. The cast plaque identifies the honoured veterans who lost their lives.

In tribute to #4 Bombing & Gunnery School, that was located near Fingal, the site includes a 1/4 scale silhouette of a Lysander aircraft. O 6,000 non-pilot crew trained there from November 1943 to February 1945.

The Lysander is typical of the aircraft used to pull "drog or targets" for practice by the flyers and gunners. Three of the Lysanders crashed during training flights, killing the crews.

The intention of the committee is to produce a plaque listing the names of all served, to be placed at the Remembrance Services in 2001.

DEDICATING WAR MEMORIAL

BY TIMES-JOURNAL STAFF

Southwold's first memorial to its First and Second World War veterans, and those who fought in Korea, will be dedicated Saturday.

The memorial, which incorporates a sundial, plaque, two large rocks and a scale model of a Lysander airplane, will be decorated Saturday outside the Keystone Complex in Shedden where it is located.

Lorne Spicer, who helped plan the memorial, said the rocks come from the southwest and northeast areas of Southwold. The plaques are marked with the names of 66 Southwold veterans who fought in the three wars for Canada.

The dedication will be led by the padre of the Elgin Regiment and, weather permitting, a flyover of four Harvard aircraft in the "missing man" formation.

That formation is in the shape of a V with one plane missing to symbolize a missing pilot.

Spicer said the money to erect the memorial was raised, in part, through annual Rosie Rhubarb celebrations and a $20,700 donation from a Southwold family.

A silhouette of a Lysander plane, built to one-quarter scale, is representational of the aircraft used at the RCAF No. 4 Bomber and Gunnery School at Fingal.

TOWNSHIP OF SOUTHWOLD

SOUTHWOLD WAR MEMORIAL TO THE SOUTHWOLD VETERANS WORLD WAR I, WORLD WAR II & KOREAN WAR

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 2001

Southwold Veterans' War Memorial And Veterans' Plaque

In September 1998, a small group of community volunteers formed a committee to landscape this beautiful facility, the Southwold Keystone Complex. We hope you have noticed the new expansion with the many new trees.

The idea for a War Veteran's Memorial evolved as a key component of this project. In October 1999, a separate committee was formed to research the names of all Southwold residents who had enlisted for active service in World War I and World War II, as well as the Korean War.

The research committee, under the direction of Melba Marr, spent the last two months of 1999 to September 2000 compiling data from the Southwold Honour Roll, Church and School Honour Rolls and Women's Institute records. They spent countless hours verifying records in the Elgin Military Museum, newspaper archives, the National Archives and the Veteran's Affairs & War Graves Internet sites. Personal recollections and family histories were a valuable resource.

The Southwold Township population average has consistently remained at approximately 4000 citizens for the past 100 years. The research committee has determined that 284 residents served in World War I, while 257 residents served in World War II. There were 3 men who served in Korea.

In 2000, we honoured the 40 men from WWI and 26 men from WWII who did not return from the fields of battle.

Today we dedicate a plaque listing all veterans of WWI, WWII and Korean War. It will have a permanent place of honour on a wall in the entrance of this complex.

New memorial is unveiled

BY MARG BERRY
TIMES-JOURNAL STAFF

SHEDDEN — The standing-room-only crowd at the Keystone Complex on Saturday remembered Canadian soldiers headed for the war in Afghanistan.

The second annual Southwold Remembrance Day service took on a sombre note as Deputy Mayor Stan Lidster called for two minutes of silence.

"We are all aware of the horrific affairs of Sept. 11," he said.

Lidster, chairman of the Southwold

Township War Memorial committee, and Southwold Mayor James McIntyre pulled off the red covering to unveil a large plaque bearing the names of 544 Southwold veterans of the two world wars and the Korean conflict.

A research committee, headed by Melba Marr, spent about a year compiling data from many sources to come up with the list of veterans.

Last year Southwold held its first Remembrance Day service at the new war
