

Beach at Old Tyrconnell Is Still Playground

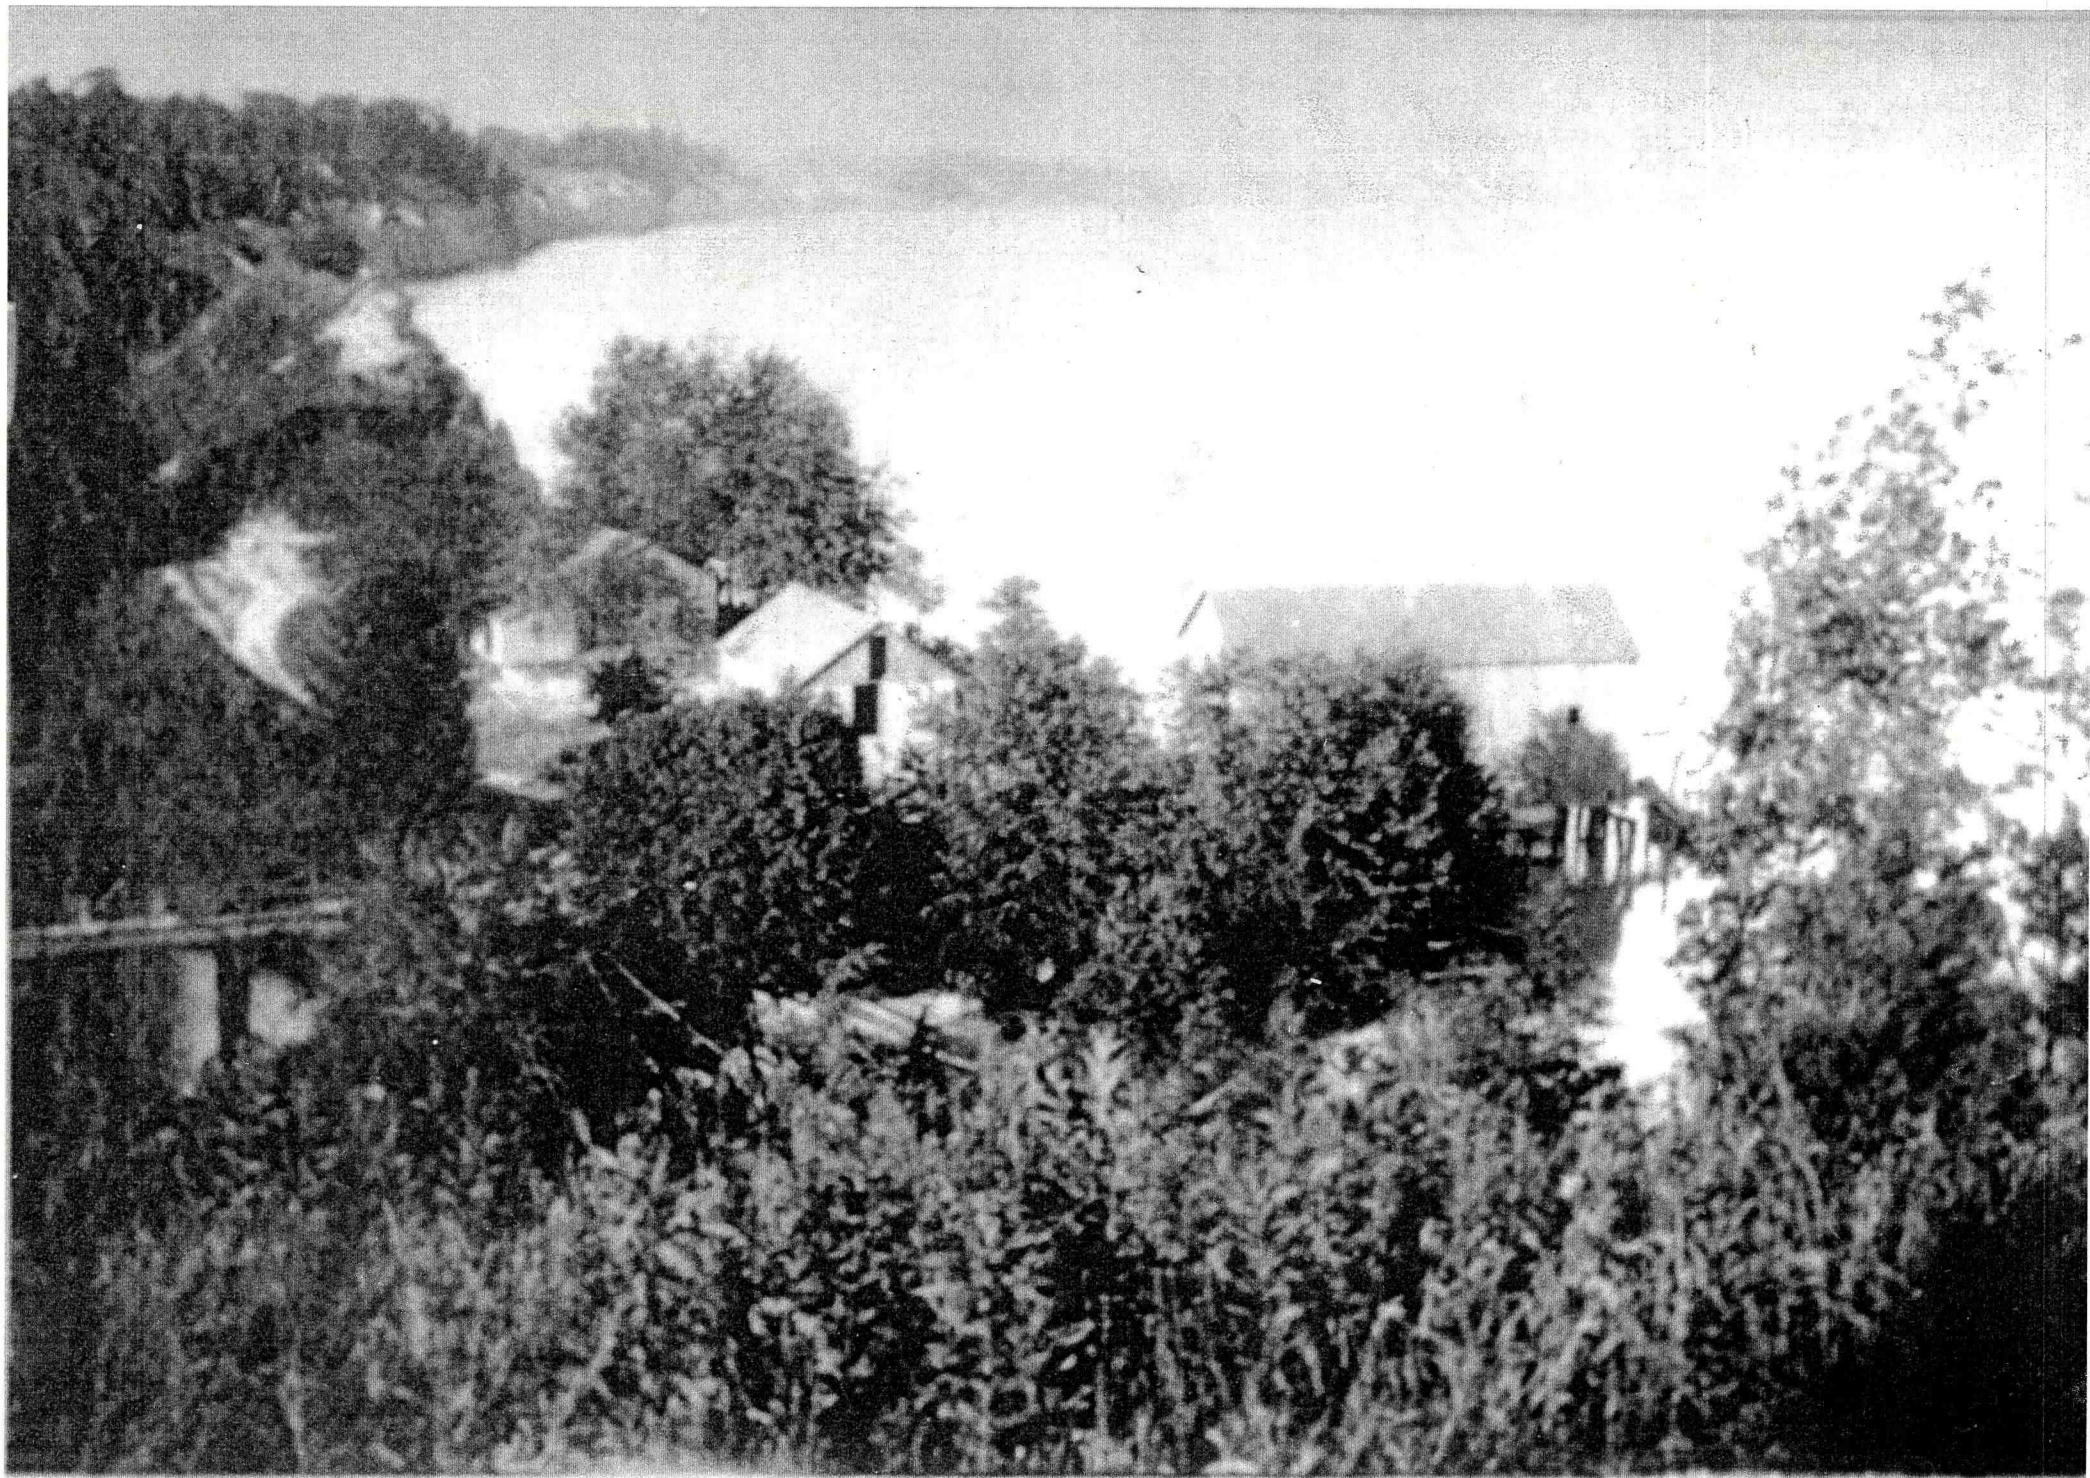

For generations Tyrconnell has been a playground and even yet there are crowds there of a Sunday. The above view was taken from the cliff looking east. A local resident is shown loading a wagon with gravel while a few bathers, by the sun water method, look on.

TYRCONELL - 1 House along the old road that went East. 2 Ice house the middle building.
3 This looks like a building for grain storage for shipping from dock, later a fish house for packing fish. Grain Dealer - a well to-do capitalist who moved to Dutton was Meridith Corn Sr. He was a well known grain merchant living in and shipping out of Porto Tyrconnell. It was not until 1890 that Mr Corn closed down the pier at Tyrconnell, purchased, a lot in Dutton and built a beautiful home - This is from page 22 out of the Dutton story.
1891-1991.
