PURPOSE:

Early recognition and intervention in potentially violent situations are key to crisis prevention. Prevention incorporates philosophies related to identifying the triggers associated with responsive behaviours.

This policy is not limited to residents; it may be used for any aggressive or violent persons.

PROCEDURE:

Staff is encouraged to call a “CODE WHITE” when they feel threatened and de-escalation techniques are ineffective. Proactively calling a “CODE WHITE” to ensure the safety of staff and residents will not be subject to repercussions.

Proactive Measures to Prevent a Code White:

- The clinical team will utilize preventative planning through behaviour profiling to understand how the resident interacts, communicates; and expresses protective or defensive behaviours in response to specific triggers.
- All clinical staff must remain vigilant for early indicators of a person in crisis: anxiety, agitation or defensiveness and intervene safely and effectively in order to avert the crisis and minimize risk of assaultive behaviour.
- Staff’s responses to the behaviours of a person in crisis that incorporate the Gentle Persuasive Techniques from the Gentle Persuasive Approach (GPA) training sessions will provide the basis for consistent and effective intervention strategies.
- Refer to nursing policy “Responsive Behaviours” for additional interventions and strategies.

Gentle Persuasive Approaches (GPA) to Dementia Care:

- Ensure only 1 person is communicating with the person experiencing responsive behaviour
- Stay calm, confident and self-controlled
- Keep communications simple, short and clear
- Avoid arguments and power struggles

- Assign others to relocate residents and others in order to isolate the resident experiencing responsive behaviour
 - Attempt to remove possible triggers i.e. bright lights, loud noise (TV, radio), an audience
 - Stay at least a leg-length away from the defensive/protective person
 - Don't let the person get between you and an exit from the room
 - Don't try to handle the situation alone; request assistance from team members in the immediate vicinity
 - Utilize Behaviour Supports Ontario (BSO) team suggestions for residents exhibiting Responsive Behaviours
 - Remain professional; if unable to stay professional, delegate the lead role to another team member. Do not retaliate with anger or aggression, respond with unconditional positive regard
 - If attempts to defuse the person are unsuccessful and sufficient staff are not at hand initiate a "Code White" response by:
 - having someone announce
 - Utilize staff duress device where available

Authority to Call a Code White - A Code White may be called by:

Any staff member who is involved in a violent incident or is in the immediate area and who determines extra personnel and/or resources are required immediately.

Activation of Code White:

The staff member who pages a "CODE WHITE" shall provide the location (Resident Home Area or area where the incident is taking place).

The staff member announcing the Code White will announce "CODE WHITE AND THE RESIDENT HOME AREA" three (3) times in succession over the public address system.

Communication during a Code White:

Two-way radios and portable phones are to be used for communication during a Code White based on the policies in place.

Procedure if You Are Aware of a Violent/Behavioural Situation Where There is an Urgent Need for Extra Personnel and/or Resources:

The staff member who makes the assessment that the Code White is to be called will either page, announce or direct staff to page and announce according to the Activation of a Code White guidelines.

- When responding, avoid surging into the area in large numbers as this may escalate the situation (i.e. move quickly to the location but walk)
- All responding staff are to take direction for the CW Lead and stay quietly on the peripheral until help is requested.
- All non-responding staff are to ensure access doors to the resident home areas are shut, and remain alert and ready to respond should the threat move to their area

Role of the CW Lead:

In most instances the CW Lead is the first Code White Response Team member on the scene; any team member with the confidence and competence in handling crisis situations; and/or the team member who has the best rapport with the acting out individual.

- Ensure someone has announced the Code White and location
- Direct or assist in implementing procedures so as to deescalate and defuse the critical or potentially critical incident
- Communicate any known resident de-escalation preferences or potential escalating triggers
- Communicate all known medical, emotional/psychological, physical, or psychiatric risk factors of the resident in crisis
- Implement such “Emergency Restraint Procedures” as necessary to temporarily maintain the acting out person as safely as possible
- Disengage from the incident if the intervention is ineffective or if cued by the Code Manager

GLOSSARY:

Acting Out Person

A person demonstrating a total loss of control, which results in a physical acting-out episode.

This is defined in the Crisis Prevention Institute's Crisis Development Model as the third level of Crisis Development Behaviour. It is preceded by level one; anxiety and level two; defensiveness.

The fourth and last stage is tension reduction.

Chemical Restraint (FLTCA s. 39)

Pharmaceuticals given with the specific and sole purpose of inhibiting specific behaviour or movement. Differentiating between the use of a drug as a therapeutic agent or a restraint is difficult. However, when a drug is used to treat clear-cut, psychiatric or medical symptoms, it is not usually considered a restraint.

Code White Response

A Code White may be initiated if there is escalating aggression and/or a threat of violence/assault made by a person that is believed to be serious and imminent and the immediate staff and resources are insufficient to de-escalate the person and respond safely and effectively.

It is an opportunity to provide support and education to responding staff and assess the impact and safety of staff and residents following a Code White. This may occur immediately after the incident; or, based on the circumstances of the incident, a more in-depth debriefing may also occur in the days following the incident.

Personal Safety Techniques

Maneuvers taught to all GPA trained staff to protect the staff and the acting out individual from injury when behaviour escalates to the physical level.
